February 26, February 27 and 28 – Dakota & Friends Dinosaur Hunt at the Smoky Mountain Event Center in Waynesville. Did you ever want to go hunting dinosaurs? Enjoy a safe journey through the earth experience before time Dinosaurs. Children can hunt dinosaurs from their parent vehicle with a nerf gun (bring their own or you can buy them at the event with prices starting at $10. They will also have Nerf darts for purchase if sold out, 50 darts for $5). Because of Covid, you won't get your nerf darts back, but don't feel bad ... first you shot a dinosaur and secondly we'll gather them later and take them to Happy Camp when we get back, where the kids are kicking cancer, so they're not going to get lost! $20/ General Admission per car $150/VIP Car Admission Learn more and get your passes HERE: Event page HERE: . tammikuuta kello kello · FREE POP-UP FOOD! Saturdays, January 9th - FREE Food From our Pop-Up City meal at the Asheville Masonic Temple with Asheville Strong. Starting January 9, Asheville Strong will host free hot meals in January and February (and possibly until March as funding and logistics allow). As part of our Feed Our City program, pop-up events are meant to help anyone who can use some comfort and good hot food right now. Since November, the Feed Our City program has paid local independent restaurants to provide more than a thousand meals per week that our volunteers then deliver to shelters and organizations that help with low-income people and families in need. Our next step is to address another part of the population, the people we consider to be quietly hungry, living pay-to-pay. Maybe it's you. Maybe you're in trouble, you've just been fired from work, or you're just burned and too tired to cook during this pandemic. We've got him covered. The Feed Our City Meal Pop-Up will receive a restaurant partner per month, who will cook 300 meals every Saturday for distribution downtown at Asheville Masonic Temple, located at 80 Broadway Street. The January food pop-up includes queen gypsy cuisine! Help name each color in colornames.org Terms of Use Discovering exciting new stores As coronavirus forced the closure of school districts across the country, millions of parents suddenly took a second job: teaching their children. That's a tough place as there are only so many hours in the day, but fortunately there are plenty of online resources that can help make this time stressful for a little easier. ABCmouse has announced that they are giving away a free code to access their resources. Here's what parents need to know. What is ABCmouse.com?ABCMouse is an application-based, web-based learning program designed for children from 2 to 8 years old. It is a product of Age of Learning, a company that normally makes money through subscriptions. ABCmouse's stated goal is to help children build a solid foundation for future academic success by providing a comprehensive and engaging online curriculum to greatly help early students succeed in pre-K, kindergarten, and early elementary school programs. Subscribers have access to a comprehensive library of programs tailored to the first grades. Why kids love ABCmouseThe best thing about ABCmouse is the quality of every lesson, book and game. They do not see the use of the website as a task; rather, it's just playing a fun adventure game or listening to a great story. The engagement factor is extremely important in a child's learning, there are very specific curriculum goals for each activity in any of our products, founder Doug Dohring explained to the KTLA5 news. As a mother of four, I can honestly say that ABCmouse is solid. It is not a permanent substitute for hands-on learning, but it has given me more than a few guilt-free breaks. How to get free access to ABCmouseNow that way more children are out of school, the ABCmouse.com team has decided to open up access to their popular learning program. A subscription that typically costs $10 a month to unlock over 10,000 learning activities, songs, books, games and art projects is now free. Providing quality educational resources specifically at this crucial time for children is very important, Dohring explained. Your program is compatible with computers, phones and tablets, so it doesn't matter what type of device your child is using. To get free access for your child, the school your child attends must first apply using this form. According to KTLA5 news, the response to this free access has been overwhelming, so there is some delay between when the school requests free subscriptions and when the form is processed. Some public libraries have also set up free access. You can check if yours is one of them here. If you want to try ABCmouse while waiting for your child's school to fill out the form and get approval, the company is offering a 30-day no-obligation free trial that will give you full access to your schedule.
